office furniture?

Used Furniture Helps Charities and Schools

When companies move, downsize or upgrade their office furnishings they must decide what to do with their old furniture. We're talking about a lot of stuff, in some cases enough to provide offices for 1,000 or more people. And, good stuff. These days it is not unusual to see new or like-new, name brand furniture simply hauled away to a landfill.

Unbelievable, you say? Well, it happens every day because it is simply too expensive to store it and too much trouble to try to sell it. Many companies who do store their surplus office furniture eventually realize that, while the cost continues to accrue, the value steadily declines.

If you have surplus office furniture, consider donating it to Beverly Farm. We will arrange to sell it from your location or transport it to one of our warehouses and market it through a large network of furniture dealers. You will eliminate cost and the proceeds will benefit the residents of Beverly Farm.

If you want a great deal on high quality furnishings consider buying it from us. You can stop by our store at Beverly Farm or shop online. Every purchase benefits Beverly Farm.

Whether you wish to donate or purchase office furnishings you can expect everything to be handled professionally. That's because we are now part of Facility Warehouse, a large network of furniture dealers, movers, and installers. Facility Warehouse was established to:

- Help large organizations fulfill their "Green" initiatives by keeping tons of office materials out of our landfills;
- Help non-profit organizations raise desperately needed funds; and
- Help our under-funded schools by providing equipment and supplies to teachers who would otherwise have to do without or purchase with their own money.
